TO FIX STREET BREAKS. CAUSE OF COMPLAINTS

WPA and City Plan To Close Unfinished Paving Project in Week or 10 Days After Motorists Make Protests.

Complaints from motorists that rough up pavements of Marion streets are traffic factors were met by city officials today with the assurance that material to complete the street work will be supplied within a week of 10 days.

J. V. Ruhl, city superintendent directed, said completion of the work, being done as WPA work, traveling projects has been delayed while attempts are being made to buy the necessary brick at lower prices than those yet quoted.

The pavement breaks have existed since the projects were dropped a month ago.

The street breaks in question are on East Church, street, Church street and Park boulevard. To complete the work will require four carloads of brick, Mr. Ruhl said, which at present prices would cost approximately $1,000. At prices which Mr. Ruhl expects to pay for the brick, it will cost from $800 to $1,000, he said.

Motorists have complained about the street breaks, which extend from 80 to 100 feet in length and have been left unlighted at night. The drop in the street level, caused by the removal of part of the brick pavement, could result in considerable damage to an automobile and possibly cause a serious accident.

It was reported that WPA road workers for Marion county and J. E. Heston, general superintendent of city WPA work, said, however, that they do not believe the breaks are a traffic hazard except for autos traveling at an unreasonable fast speed.

The agencies have been paying for filling with gravel. Mr. Walcott said, with the gravel that is a slight drop in the street level remains.

All of the gravel was covered by a full width of the street, the paving on East Church street is 10 feet long and is between Third and Grand avenue. The gravel is the break extends for four feet from the curb south of the paving on Park boulevard and is 120 feet long.

RURAL SOLONS DENOUNCE FOES

Claim Relief Is Purely Local Problem and State Should Step Out of Picture

URGE BACK TAX CAMPAIGN

Want Collections Supplement ed by Local Excise Levy and Outlay Reduced

By The Associated Press
COLUMBUS, O., July 22.—The rural solons of Ohio are denouncing the state's plan to raise revenue by a general excise tax. They claim the relief is purely local and the state should step out of the picture.

The plan, which would require the state to collect the tax, was announced by the state department of revenue. The solons, however, claim that the tax is purely local and that the state should not be involved in the collection.

5 TERRORISTS FACE COURT IN SLAYING

To Be Arraigned on Murder and Kidnap Charge in Second Legion Killing

By The Associated Press
PHILADELPHIA, July 22.—Five Black Legionists accused of killing an unidentified Negro a year ago to have some fun, faced arraignment today on murder and kidnap charges.

The first account of the shooting of the Negro came from Dayton. Dean, confessor of Black Legion deeds of violence.

Prosecutor Duncan C. McCrea said last night he had obtained a corroborating statement from one of the men Dean named.

That statement, the prosecutor said, came from James Roy Lawrence and like Dean's account named Harvey Davis.

Both expressed the belief that the large counties soon could be in position to handle their relief problems if forced to do so.

Pauls Back Taxes Collected
I feel certain, said Richards, that Cuyahoga county and the city of Cleveland could handle their relief problem themselves if they would only collect their delinquent taxes and probably levy some local excise taxes to help out.

The large counties would find it much easier to care for their relief clients if they would cut out the high salaries paid their handlings, said Rep. Dunn.

Both the rural lawmakers in stated there was too much cheating by relief clients and that by turning the work back to local officials it would be eliminated.

Richardson suggested that relief administrators cut their relief rolls 10 per cent or 15 per cent as a means of weeding out persons not in need of aid.

Such a method, he said, every county could reduce its relief roll one half in 30 months.

The court also ordered in a separate action that the telephone company make $11,832,264 refund in the Cleveland area. The city had asked $8,300.

Of the total $11,832,264 refund order $11,421,111 represented exchange rates or local charges and $10,127,101 or long distance charges.

Under Four Headings
The court's decision took up the complicated case under four divisions: 1. Valuation including price lists. 2. Operating expenses. 3. Depreciation. 4. Rate of return.

On the question of valuation the opinion said:

A laborious study of the superabundant record of 30,000 pages disclosed a sharp conflict of expert evidence and under such circumstances this court cannot properly hold that the findings of the commission are against the weight of the evidence.

Certainly this court is at least in no better position to appraise the value of this conflicting testimony.

The court held the commission was justified in refusing to allow for money invested in construction before it became useful to the company's operations. The utility claiming an average of $3,000,000 was an employed over a nine-year period.

Allow For Interest
An allowance was made however the decision continued for the item of interest during construction which fully and adequately compensated the company for the use of its capital which was invested in unfinished construction work.

Would Employ 50
WPA officials said they think it would be about a week or 10 days before funds allocated at Washington would be released at the district office in Mansfield. In the event everything was ready to proceed the Washington office would notify state officials in Columbus of the approval of the project and they in turn would go to the district office at Mansfield on order to release the funds. WPA officials here estimated the project would employ about 50 men over a period of four months.

The plans as outlined on the Marine field call for a concrete stadium with a seating capacity of approximately 1,000. A circular design was chosen as a basis for a box and a concession booth. A concrete stadium building is a high class of architecture.
